

Starlines

Purposes

- To explore energy systems available from F34/35 and beyond.
- To continue reclaiming, remembering, and integrating parts of Self.
- To establish/strengthen the energy link between Earth Core and the Galactic Core.
- To continue discovering our personal relationships with other life expressions.
- To examine relationships between inner and outer space, using inner space to explore outer space (As within, so without).
- To use results of outer space telescopic research to provide a launch pad for exploring inner space (As without, so within).
- To review the electromagnetic wave spectrum and its relationship to consciousness.
- To explore the multi-dimensional doorway of the Galactic Core, including symbolic references across many cultures.
- To provide an update on the rapidly expanding discoveries in the field of Astronomy, thus providing “Basic Training” for future “Galactic Ambassadors.”

Assumptions

- There are numerous parallels between outer space exploration and inner space explorations.
- Our knowledge of the size and dynamics of the “physical” world has expanded tremendously in recent years.
- Increased awareness of our physical world leads naturally to states of expanded awareness and Self-knowledge.
- The energy of the Gathering (F34-35) often functions as a portal and provides a good starting point for further exploration of life and consciousness beyond the Earth/Human realm.
- As we approach the central point of our galaxy, there are higher frequencies of energy, which seem to lead naturally to higher states of consciousness and Self-Integration.
- Exploration of “outer space” provides a natural attunement to the reality of time-travel.
- Numerous cultures and philosophical systems have emphasized that the energy of the Galactic Core, also known as the Central Sun, is a source of sustaining life energy, wisdom, and creation.
- While scientists hypothesize the Galactic core may be a “black hole,” drawing matter into it, numerous reports of consciousness explorers suggest that it may be a major consciousness portal, or “stargate.”
